

RABOT 1745

Borough Market, London

AFTERNOON TEA OF THE GODS

Worshiped by Mayans. Theobroma Cacao translates as 'food of the gods'.

Add a bottle of prosecco for £22*

SANDWICHES

Marinated beef and white chocolate horseradish

A rare cut above. Grass-fed Hereford beef 24-hour marinated with treacle and parkin spices. Fiery wasabi horseradish tempered in our high-cocoa butter white.

Egg mayonnaise brioche

Aroma of fresh baked brioche? We make our own to create that 'just right' bite, the perfect hold for egg and chive mayonnaise with a malty edge of cocoa nibs. (V)

Creole chicken with pumpkin mayonnaise

Heat of warm, smoky Saint Lucian spices and cayenne pepper, tamed in pumpkin purée mayonnaise.

Pea and tarragon mousse on rye sourdough

An edible ode to spring... pea, tarragon and chickpea mousse made with lychee-like cocoa pulp and fresh lemon juice. Thinly sliced radish and pea shoots do it poetic justice. (V)

CAKES & SCONES

Strawberry and vanilla cheesecake

Forget tradition. Cheesecake reimagined as a light, airy mousse made with fragrant Madagascar vanilla and all-natural strawberry gel purée. Cocoa nib crunch in the biscuit base. (V)

Chocolate and cherry opera gâteau

Opulent layers of light chocolate mousse, cherry purée and Madagascar vanilla sponge. Topped with a kirsch soaked cherry and 70% dark ganache. (V, A)

Fresh baked sultana scone and cinnamon scone

Lavish your way. Strawberry jam, clotted cream or 70% chocolate ganache first?

Tasting chocolates

Made from cocoa beans, including those grown on our estate in Saint Lucia. (V, WWV)
Please ask about today's selection.

Available Tuesday to Saturday, 1pm-5pm

Afternoon tea for two with a glass of Prosecco Superiore £35 each, £30 without.

Our foodie three

Our grocery? Our neighbours.

Free range: we insist on it, from egg to chicken.

Pastry chef: Fabrice, will taste test to perfection.
